Top-A-Court, ASBA Member Company, Wins National Honor

Ellicott City, MD – Sports facility construction company, Top-A-Court Tennis Company (Hatfield, Pennsylvania) was honored by Racquet Sports Industry Magazine in its annual awards program. Top-A-Court, a member of the American Sports Builders Association (ASBA), was named one of the magazine's Champions of Tennis in recognition of its contributions to the sport. The award was announced at ASBA's annual Technical Meeting, held in Orlando, Florida.

Top-A-Court Tennis was named RSI's Ten and Under Tennis Court Contractor of the Year. The award is given in recognition of outstanding work in building and marking tennis courts for children's play. Top-A-Court was founded in 1988 by owner and president John Coll. Coll recently worked with the U.S. Tennis Association (USTA) to gain experience with the new rules for youth tennis play, and has since helped more than 100 municipalities, clubs, schools and community tennis associations lines in order to expand opportunities for children to learn the sport.

Coll has also noted that 10U Tennis can benefit contractors as well by allowing them to provide additional services to those in need of court construction and renovation. The company is a member of ASBA, and Coll is a Certified Tennis Court Builder. The company has built tennis, basketball, bocce and multi-use courts in the Eastern Pennsylvania and tri-state area (East Pennsylvania, Delaware and Southern New Jersey). According to Coll, the company's mission statement has always been: "Build it right, build it with integrity and do business honestly. Make our work last as long as possible, for the customer as well as for our own pride."

Racquet Sports Industry is the only trade magazine serving the niche business-to-business market in the tennis industry. Its subscribers include tennis retailers, pro shops, tennis coaches and teachers, racquet sports clubs, community tennis associations and more.

The ASBA is a non-profit association helping designers, builders, owners, operators and users understand quality sports facility construction. For information on the ASBA, as well as on its publications, activities and upcoming meetings, please contact the Association at 8480 Baltimore National Pike, Suite 307, Ellicott City, MD 21043.
